

TC1200: THE NEW LINEAR CCD READER

Datalogic Automation has the pleasure to announce the availability of the new Linear CCD reader TC1200. Thanks to innovative CCD technology, TC1200 offers excellent reading performance, great decoding capability, outstanding product reliability combined with ease to use HMI interface.

The new TC1200 sets a new reference standard in the Auto-ID market for OEM applications and entry level Factory Automation market, with the aim to increase revenues and market share in this important applications.

TC1200 represents the entry level BC reader in the Identification product portfolio and it will replace the old TC1100 that will be discontinued during the first semester 2011.