

BIG CEREMONY FOR THE OPENING OF THE NEW DATALOGIC FRENCH HEADQUARTERS IN VILLEBON-SUR-YVETTE, SOUTHWEST OF PARIS

8 June 2017 - Datalogic, a global leader in the automatic data capture and process automation markets, announces that Romano and Valentina Volta, Executive Chairman and CEO of the Datalogic Group, inaugurated this morning the new Datalogic French headquarters in Villebon-sur-Yvette, southwest of Paris, at the presence of the Mayor, Mr Dominique Fontenaille.

Dr. Volta started here the business in France at the beginning of the '80s. A place which has become a point of reference for French Datalogic's customers and partners, where are employed about 30 people .

Datalogic is a global company, present in 30 countries around the world, but with about 50% of its revenues generated in Europe where it has a leadership position . the French market is rich of opportunities in all the major industries in which Datalogic operates: Retail, Transportation & Logistics, Healthcare and Manufacturing.

Datalogic is confident that the digital transformation that French companies are undergoing will have a positive impact on the national development as well as great benefits for all those who participate in the French industrial economy.

The company decided therefore to strengthen its presence and its image in French territory with renovated offices that could reflect, also in spaces and furnishings, the prestige of a globally credited brand, such wanting to give an important signal to Datalogic's customers and partners: Datalogic is moving from a company centered mainly on products to a "Customer-centric company".

"Furthermore" -stated Valentina Volta during the opening ceremony- "Datalogic, always aware of how much the quality of its human resources remains its main and most important competitive advantage, even ahead of the products and solutions it offers to the market, through these new spaces aims to acknowledge the value and the commitment of the Datalogic people."

The event was attended by dozens of people, gathered to celebrate the Group's business in France and to experience the new solutions proposed by the Italian multinational.
